STYLES FOR FALL 25

10 Styles : still important for Fall 2025

1

A BOLD KNIT-ON-KNIT COLLABORATION

Prada FW24

This styling showcases a combination of knit pieces with an emphasis on contrasting colors. The bold color pairings, such as pink and lime green or red and blue, follow the trend of mixing vibrant tones that complement yet stand out against each other. This adds a playful twist to an otherwise simple silhouette.

How it will be styled for Fall 25

For Fall 2025, Prada's knit tops and cardigans from Fall 2024 could be reinterpreted by Uniqlo with a focus on affordability, comfort, and sustainability. While this styling will still highlight contrasting colors to maintain a sense of visual interest, the palette may shift towards slightly lighter and softer shades to make the pieces more versatile for everyday wear.

2

TRANSPARENCY LAYERING

Paloma Wool
FW24

This styling features a minimalist yet daring combination of micro shorts or a body suit, layered with a transparent mesh skirt. The focus is on the play with transparency, allowing the underlayer to subtly show through while creating a fluid, ethereal silhouette.

How it will be styled for Fall 25

For Fall 2025, Zara would adopt this transparency layering trend in a more wearable, mass-market way. The sheer skirt would remain central, but instead of micro shorts, it would be layered over a midi-length slip dress or slightly longer shorts, providing more coverage while keeping the light, airy feel. The transparency theme would still be present, but reinterpreted to suit the practical needs of a wider audience. The restyled look would offer a balance of sophistication and functionality, blending Paloma Wool's innovative layering concept with Zara's more accessible and everyday approach.

3

TIGHTLY WRAPPED HEADSCARF

Jacquemus FW24

Jacquemus presents a minimalist yet bold look, featuring a colorful scarf tightly wrapped around the head. This head scarf styling evokes vintage glamour with a modern twist, pairing the headscarf with a simple silhouette, allowing the accessory to take center stage.

How it will be styled for Fall 25

Jacquemus's tightly wrapped head scarf from Fall 2024 is now being reinterpreted by COS for Fall 25. Known for its focus on understated elegance, COS would adapt this styling by replacing the vibrant headscarf with a neutral-toned version for a more versatile, everyday appeal, while the silhouette of the scarf would remain tightly wrapped. COS's aesthetic is minimalistic and elegant yet fashion-forward, and it will align perfectly with this styling.

4

BOTTOMS WITH COLORFUL ACCENTS

Miu Miu FW24

These looks highlight bold, vibrant colors, particularly through striking ribbed tights that serve as a statement piece for the bottoms. These colorful tights are paired with seasonal items like a suede jacket and gloves, infusing an energetic vibe into cold-weather styling. This combination of playful color-blocking and winter essentials creates a dynamic visual that blends retro charm with a modern edge.

How it will be styled for Fall 25

For Fall 2025, & Other Stories would reinterpret these statement tights with a more refined, everyday aesthetic. Instead of bright, bold colors, the tights would evolve into muted tones like soft pinks, making them more practical for colder seasons. In keeping with & Other Stories' approach, these toned-down yet still colorful pieces would be styled alongside other understated items, creating an everyday wearable look with just the right amount of standout detail. This styling allows the brand to provide a refined, yet still fashion-forward.

5

SCARF AS A STATEMENT TIE

Hodakova FW24

These looks feature a playful reinterpretation of a classic element, a thin scarf tied like a necktie. Paring the scarf with a shirt, which is a typical item styled with a necktie, enhances its resemblance to one. This style combines the casual ease of a scarf with the formal connotation of a necktie, creating an interesting balance of laid-back and structured elements.

How it will be styled for Fall 25

For Fall 2025, Hodakova's thin scarf from Fall 2024 is now being styled for Sandro for Fall 2025. Sandro would adapt this scarf-tie styling into their signature Parisian chic aesthetic. The thin scarf would be evolved in luxurious silk with subtle prints or delicate textures, maintaining the necktie-inspired knot but in a more refined and polished way. Paired with tailored blazers or oversized knitwear, this look would offer a sophisticated yet effortlessly stylish option for Sandro Fall 2025.

6

BOLD STYLE WITH A SKIRT-LIKE BELT

This look showcases an inventive use of accessories, specifically a structured belt designed to resemble a mini skirt. This bold styling choice transforms the typical belt into a statement piece, cinching a long, sleek knit dress, adding uniqueness to the simple silhouette of the long dress.

Isabel Marant FW24

How it will be styled for Fall 25

For Fall 2025, Isabel Marant's belt-skirt from Fall 2024 is now being styled for Acne Studios for Fall 2025. Acne Studios would experiment with oversized, exaggerated belt-skirt in leather textures, layering them over oversized knitwear or loose, flowing dresses. The overall look would remain fashion-forward, emphasizing structural details while maintaining a minimalist edge fitting Acne's signature style.

7

BOW-TIED SCARF POINT

Kimhekim
FW24

Kimhekim's Fall 2024 collection showcases a dramatic statement scarf tied into an oversized ribbon. This bold styling element creates a striking contrast between the softness of the scarf and the structured tailoring. The oversized scarf styling adds both visual interest and a playful, avant-garde flair to the overall look.

How it will be styled for Fall 25

Reformation would adopt this striking style into a more wearable yet still eye-catching for Fall 2025. Instead of a dramatic oversized bow, Reformation might style the scarf in a more refined, slightly smaller bow for everyday wear, offering practicality while maintaining a playful edge. The bow could be paired with chic knit dresses or tailored coats, giving it a more effortless, feminine feel while keeping the statement element.

8

A BOLD CONTRAST : COLORFUL BEANIE AND CLASSIC SUIT

Prada FW24

This look combines a classic, restrained suit with a bold, contrasting accessory - a tightly fitted beanie in a bright, almost swim-cap-like design. This unexpected pairing creates an intriguing balance between formalwear and a pop of playful, unconventional headwear, adding an eccentric edge to an otherwise traditional ensemble.

How it will be styled for Fall 25

For Fall 2025, COS could reinterpret this style by maintaining the structured suit's minimalist aesthetic but offering a more relaxed mood. The bold, fitted beanie might be swapped for a ribbed knit in neutral tones, keeping the focus on the clean lines of the suit. COS would emphasize the balance between minimalism and modern functionality, making the look both stylish and accessible for the everyday man who values simplicity with a refined edge.

9

LAYERED CARDIGAN WITH POLO SHIRT

This look highlights the unique layering of a knit cardigan underneath a striped polo shirt, with the cardigan peeking through as the shirt is left unbuttoned. The relaxed styling creates a casual, yet thoughtfully layered effect. The contrast between the beige cardigan and the pastel blue striped polo shirt draws attention to the layering itself, making it a key feature of the outfit. This playful use of contrasting colors enhances the visual interest while maintaining a casual, effortless vibe.

Paloma Wool FW24

How it will be styled for Fall 25

For Fall 2025, Gap could adopt this unique layering style, making it more accessible for everyday wear.

Gap would maintain the layering style of a polo shirt over a knit cardigan, keeping the relaxed feel by leaving the cardigan unbuttoned. However, the color contrast between the two pieces would be softened, opting for more complementary shades rather than bold contrasts. This shift will give the outfit a more versatile and understated look while still highlighting the layered structure.

10

MASCULINITY WITH DELICATE SCARF

This style emphasizes the contrast between a minimal, oversized suit and a sleek, delicate scarf. The oversized tailoring provides a structured yet relaxed silhouette, while the soft scarf adds a touch of elegance and sensuality. This mix of sharp masculinity with a refined, delicate scarf creates the overall allure and sexiness of the look.

Gucci FW24

How it will be styled for Fall 25

For Fall 2025, this style could be evolved with casual approach. Ami Paris could reinterpret this combination for Fall 2025 by maintaining the delicate scarf as a focal point but pairing it with a more relaxed, minimal oversized casual look, such as a basic knit or soft tailored pieces. The subtle contrast between the scarf and the casual layers would make the style more versatile for everyday wear while still capturing that sensual contrast between sleekness and structure.
